Dear Sirs:

This request may seem strange to you, but it is very important that my request for aid be answered. I know of no other way than this.

I enclose a letter to be forwarded to G. N. Smith formerly an instructor at Toronto University. He was my commander in the 2d McGill Universities Company and I am in great need of his assistance.

Can not somebody at the University forward the enclosed envelope to his present address? I do not know it myself, so I cannot reach him. Time is a great impatance, so that your immediate help will be of greatest scavice.

Thanking you in advance, I beg to be

Sincerely yours,

Elwood E. Smith.
